

Opinion: Kasich tax breaks help working poor

By Philip Cole

Saturday, July 12, 2014

Philip Cole is executive director of the Ohio Association of Community Action Agencies.

At some point in their lives, all Ohioans have dreamed of opening a present that holds their dream gift. While I have yet to be given my dream gift – keys to a red Corvette – Gov. John Kasich and the Ohio General Assembly are continuing to take strong steps to help low-wage working Ohioans achieve their dreams.

The Mid-biennium Budget Review (MBR) recently signed by Kasich is far-reaching legislation that includes new tax breaks for low- and middle-income Ohioans. Those of us who advocate on behalf of Ohioans in poverty see these tax reforms championed by the governor as three steps forward.

Article continued here:

<http://www.cincinnati.com/story/opinion/contributors/2014/07/12/opinion-kasich-tax-breaks-help-working-poor/12565995/>