Lieutenant Governor Mary Taylor visited the Akron Global Business Accelerator. The Accelerator is a business incubator space that allows young, diverse companies to get the resources they need to take their businesses to the next level. Located in the former BF Goodrich Tire plant in downtown Akron, the Accelerator has helped clients create over 723 new, high-paying jobs since 2010. Lt. Governor Taylor witnessed work being done in 3-D printing, medical technology, manufacturing, and software, all in one space. These start-ups showcased the innovative spirit of Ohio and why CSI works to reduce the regulatory burden on small businesses trying to grow in our state.
