MASON - A new and bold element of the Jobs Ohio program emerged Monday as Ohio Gov. John Kasich stopped by a Warren County manufacturing firm.

"We're going to other states and we're going to start stealing their jobs," the Governor told several hundred business leaders at the Rhinstahl Corporation in Mason. "We're going to raid everybody we can."

Gov. Kasich visited the company to continue pushing his program to create, retain and expand jobs and job opportunities in Ohio.

"In order for us to compete and win, we've got move like lightning," he said. "We're going to compete and we're going to win."

According to the Governor, only California and Michigan have lost more jobs than Ohio in the past 10 years. That's why he's pushing his jobs program beyond the state's borders.

'Belly up to the bar,' governor tells local government leaders

By Denise G. Callahan

MASON — Gov. John Kasich visited a Warren County company Monday and told leaders their governments and schools should be run like successful businesses.

About 200 supporters gathered at the Rhinestahl aviation tool plant in Mason to listen to the Republican governor talk about his proposed state budget that he said closes the $8 billion deficit and cuts taxes.

State Sen. Shannon Jones, R-Clearcreek Twp., introduced Kasich, saying Innovation Way, where the plant is located was an appropriate setting for the man who she said "has set the state on a path toward recovery and rejuvenation."

“This governor and this team have done more for Ohio in the past four months than the prior administration did in four years...” she said. “He is working hard every day and every night to return Ohio to innovation and job creation.”

Kasich said an unpopular portion of the budget that would cut 7 percent of the state aide that goes to nursing homes is misunderstood. He said the nursing home industry is trying to “scare” senior citizens, but the goal of the bill is not meant to be punitive.

“Ohio has spent more per person on nursing home care than all but five states,” he said. “If our parents need to go into a nursing home, God bless them. But nursing homes should not be the default option. What we are promoting is more home care.”
